

MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1878.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

A quiet Sunday.
A pleasant Monday.
The button-holes are besieged.
Remember the concert to-night.
The political pot has commenced to simmer.
The Knights of Honor hold a regular meeting to-night.
Hon. Alexander Graham is spending a few days in the city.
No more Sundays this summer, and no more summer after this week.
Another circus day next Wednesday. It is expected to eclipse all previous ones.
A lodge of the Ancient Order of Workmen was instituted in Beloit Saturday night.
Miss Fanny Roberts, daughter of W. G. Roberts, of Milwaukee, is now a guest of Miss Hattie Lappin.
Henry Martin, of the town of Janesville, was on a bad drunk Saturday and was this morning fined $1 and costs by Justice Wickham.
The semi-annual session of the Rock County Sunday School Convention begins in Clinton next Wednesday. A number will attend from this city.
Julius Torgeson, of Edgerton, was fined $10 and costs Saturday by Justice Balch, for selling liquor without license. The case used up nearly all day.
It looks as if peace was about to be proclaimed. A civil suit between one of the Fondacs and one of the Shimeals, which was to be tried before Justice Balch, has been dropped.
Saturday night there was a lively street row near Bauman's saloon, in which Charles Hilt and Jim Kane are said to be the chief participants. Revolvers were flourished, but no bloody corpses were discovered on the field, after the battle cloud had cleared away.
The Green county fair will commence at Monroe September 4th and continue four days. On the last day—Saturday, September 7th—a special train will leave Janesville for Monroe, departing at 6 o'clock a. m., and on the return leaving Monroe at 6 o'clock p. m.
Mr. F. Whitaker, who is the greatest antiquarian in the State, has recently purchased a copy of the letters and state papers of John Milton, published in London in 1894. He has a splendid edition of Milton's works published in 1804, and Addison's travels in Italy, first published in 1726. All these are rare and valuable books.
The funeral of Richard Brown Jr. took place yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's church. The deceased was widely known here, and had many friends, who showed due respect to his memory by attending the services, and following the remains to their last resting place. The procession was a large one, there being over eighty carriages in line.
The Sonaborners are at it again. Having found ready sales for their clothing and gents' furnishing goods, they are now putting in a lot more new goods for fall trade. They seem determined to keep up with the demands of their trade. Step in and see for yourself, what they are doing, and what they are getting.
The many who have been so anxious to hear Mrs. Jennie Kempton sing will have an opportunity given them this evening at the concert at Court Street Methodist church. Mrs. Kempton is well known throughout the country having appeared many times in the English and Italian operas, and is a vocalist of rare ability and culture.
J. T. Verback, of Johnsonville Center, declares that it pays to invest in printers' ink. He has some of the finest sheet ever seen in this county, and in last Thursday's Weekly Gazette he published a card announcing his willingness to sell some of them. The next day a man who read the notice called and purchased $98 worth and before Saturday night Mr. Verback had sold $112 worth.
A new variety of oats is being talked up among the farmers. It is called the Bohemian, and is peculiar in the fact that the berry has no hull, it being enclosed in a little pod. There have been already 40 bushels sold in and about Sparta at $10 a bushel. The oats weigh from 45 to 54 pounds to the bushel. The farmers seem a little shy about taking hold of them though, as they have had remembrance of the Norway and other promising varieties which gained great notoriety.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 65 degrees above and at 2 o'clock at 77 above. Clear.
The indications are, for the lake region, the upper Mississippi, and lower Missouri valleys, warmer, clear or partly cloudy weather, variable winds shifting to southerly, and generally falling barometer.

WHICH HOTEL?

Now that the great tournament of firemen, and the exposition will soon open in Chicago, there will doubtless be many from this vicinity who will visit that city, as they can combine business with pleasure, or take the pleasure without any such mixing. Those who thus visit Chicago would do well to remember that the Tremont house is centrally located, and that it is so managed that every guest can have all his wants and wishes promptly and zealously cared for, and that too, without bankrupting his pocket-book. The Tremont long ago established itself as a favorite resort for travelers, and it loses none of its popularity. For first-class accommodations at moderate prices seek out the Tremont.

The Chicago by losing Saturday's game have been put back from the first place which they occupied four weeks ago to the third in the league contest. The Boston have a secure lead for the pennant, and Cincinnati and Chicago will be close for second place. The following are the games of games won by each club: Boston, 34; Cincinnati, 29; Chicago, 28; Providence, 25; Indianapolis, 20; Milwaukee, 12.

The League clubs play as follows this week: Chicago and Boston at Chicago; Providence and Cincinnati at Cincinnati; Indianapolis and Milwaukee, at Milwaukee.

The Cincinnati defeated the Chicago Saturday 7 to 5.
The Boston scored 4 and the Milwaukee 3 in Saturday's game.

At Pittsburgh Saturday the Providence scored 11 and the Indianapolis 1.

At Cleveland Saturday the Forest City were defeated by the Utica by 6 to 5.
The Tecumseh players have been released and their salaries have been put in full.

The Janesville Mutuals defeated the Forest City, of Rockford, in the game Saturday, 20 to 5.

A TUN WEDDING.

A very happy surprise was perpetrated on Mrs. E. F. Welch Saturday evening. A friendly plot was devised and successfully carried out by which she was induced to take a ride, and before her return a number of her friends had taken possession of the house, bringing with them all the necessities for a proper celebration of a tun wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Welch having been married for ten years. Mr. Welch was absent from the city, but the opportunity for an indication of friendliness was deemed too favorable to be passed without notice, and so they quietly arranged their plans, and when Mrs. Welch returned she was unexpectedly ushered into the presence of a jolly number of self-invited guests. The affair was of course strictly informal, but was replete with mirth and merry-making. The gifts were in keeping with the occasion, and the refreshments were abundant. The recipient of these tokens of friendliness as well as the other participants, alike enjoyed the occasion, and there was no drag in the sociability, even up to the hour when the happy party dispersed.

THE BAND VISITING PECK.

The Janesville Cornet Band, which was in Milwaukee Thursday with the Knights of Pythias excursion, called at the Sun office in a solid body, under the leadership of O. E. Kimberly, an old newspaper man from Brookfield. It is a fine body of men and it is said they play like all get out.

The Sun could not have been shining very brightly, if there was not enough light in Peck's office to distinguish Kimberly from D. D. Bennett. The next time the Bower City Band visits Milwaukee Peck should go right up to the tallest man in the party, call him, "Bennett" and apologize.

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

A Few Lines from a Janesville Resident. How He Roughts in.

I presume that Janesville has forgotten me long before this, but, all the same, I have not forgotten Janesville. I am twenty-five miles south of North Platte City, Nebraska, which is on the Union Pacific Railroad. I am doing what they call "roughing it," only I am roughing it in dead earnest. The life I lead is a good deal like camping out at Geneva Lake, only a little more so. I am engaged in the stock business; it is the principal business carried on out here on the plains. I have about two hundred and fifty head of beef cattle range, and I probably average twenty-five miles a day in the saddle. I presume that some of the Janesville boys will think that is quite a coter, but it is not hard when one gets used to it. I have to feed nothing, year in and year out, and I have a very fine range. There are no Indians right in this vicinity. From what little I have seen and heard of that denomination, I can't say that I like them. There is plenty of game, such as antelope and deer, but not many deer, however. Buffalo are rather scarce, but there are quite a good many elk, wild turkeys, etc. Once in a while we see a band of wild horses. In fact, it is a terrible country, where nobody lives. But I must close, for, instead of making a long story short, I have made a short story long. JAS. W. NASH.

AS SEEN BY OTHERS.

The Daily Advertiser, of Elmira, New York, gives a very full account of the Temple of Honor gathering in Janesville, and closes the report with the following general comments:

Janesville is a flourishing and beautiful city, in Rock county, Wisconsin, and is situated on both sides of Rock river, which affords valuable water power for several large manufacturing establishments. It has many handsome residences, and the country around it is so fertile that it is unsurpassed in the State for productiveness. Among the notable public buildings is the State Institution for the Blind and the Court House. All the principal buildings are built of handsome cream colored brick, generally known as the "Milwaukee brick." The city seems to be prospering despite the hard times, and to be the centre of a large trade. The members of the Supreme Council were very courteously entertained by the members of Crystal Temple, No. 32, during their stay in Janesville. The Temple has between two and three hundred members, embracing the leading professional and business men in the city. It has done much in the past for the cause of temperance, and proposes to "fight it out on that line" until it has completely banished intemperance and its curses from the city. It has the confidence and moral support of every right-thinking citizen of Janesville. It is a power for good in that city, and long may its present, noble, brave, intelligent members, live to prosecute their labor of love.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE WESTERN.
This is a bi-monthly, published at St. Louis, and judging from the number now before us, is an ably conducted magazine after the style of the North American Review, though differing somewhat in character. Its articles are all of a high standard and written by eminent men. The publishers are G. I. Jones & Co., 208 N. Fourth street, St. Louis. Subscription price $3 per annum, or 75 cents per copy. It is certainly a creditable production for any section of the Union.

POTTER'S MONTHLY.

This publication for September, is as rich in subject-matter as in illustrations. Such writers as James Grant Wilson, A. J. H. Dugan, Egbert L. Bangs, and J. C. the "Cobweb Papers," are a brace whose popularity cannot fail to win for this magazine a most enviable position among the leading magazines of the country. The great improvement perceptible in its appearance and general make-up, under its present able editorial management, evidence a determination to make good all its promises.

The pages of this number contain most excellent articles, principal among which are: English Bible Translations, by James Grant Wilson; Penn Press and Pencil Sketches, by the author of Cobweb Papers; The Inscrutable Ways of Hens, by that capital and humorous writer, Egbert L. Bangs; and an article which must attract much attention by reason of its subject-matter, entitled, Who Killed the Logan Family? written by Rev. E. B. Radfemper, editor of the American Pulpit.

The publishers, we also perceive, announce the unprecedented offer of Two Thousand Dollars in cash premiums for the ensuing year, payable in twelve sums—the highest being four hundred dollars—in addition to the very liberal commissions now allowed on subscriptions. We presume it is intended that the twelve largest lists furnished shall be entitled to these premiums; but to avoid any misunderstanding, would advise persons desiring to compete for these premiums to address the publishers, John E. Potter & Co., Philadelphia.

CITY NOTICES.

An Offensive Breath.

Is abominable, and there is no excuse for it. Nozont will always eradicate this evil from whatever cause. But there are thousands who utterly neglect any care of their teeth, and suffer their breath to become tainted. They put their gossip into the faces of their listeners regardless of the annoyance they inflict.

Keep a bottle of Spalding's Glue, and apply to such gossip's lips.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Ladies and Gents will always find the nicest and cheapest Book and Stationery in the city and Sutherland's Bookstore, No. 29 Main street.
